911 FSA is asking that Congress take up immediately the border security measures that were dropped from the 911 Intelligence bill passed in December 2004. The members of 911 FSA are hopeful that Chairman Sensenbrenner of the House Judiciary Committee will be successful in the quest to get stronger border security measures passed in the 109th Congress. 911 FSA thanks Chairman Sensenbrenner for his efforts and fully supports him. "The safety and security of the American people demand that border security procedures must be strengthened. Secure drivers licenses, a ban on acceptance of consular I.D. cards, full funding for the Border Patrol and the Bureau of Immigration and Customs Enforcement, and streamlined asylum procedures that restrict terrorist travel are essential for the protection of our nation and for the prevention of another terrorist attack," said Peter Gadiel, president of 911 FSA.

911 FSA is made up of families of 300 victims of the September 11 terrorist attacks and supporters. 911 FSA has been working for stronger border security for over two years.
